

BEDS: NOT JUST FOR SLEEPING
STEFANIE LAURENCE, B.SC.(OT), OT REG.(ONT),
Motion Specialties – The Motion Group

A third of more of a person's life is spent in bed. While sleeping is identified as the primary activity, the bed and its sleep surface needs to be a functional space for the user. Just as mobility system can be broken down into functional units, so can a bed, the sleep surface and the positioning components. This session uses goal setting as a method to review products and their applicability to an individual.